

Ashley Andrews, Associate

Ashley Andrews, Associate, is an Actress, Writer, and Director from Long Island. She is elated to be working with Concrete Temple Theatre as an Associate. She began her journey with Concrete Temple Theatre working on the magical 2010 production of Bird Machine. She loved the staff and fell in love with all of their productions. And so since that time, she has been working with Concrete Temple as an actress, most recently as Chantel in The Bystander Project, Assistant Stage Manager as well as Administrative Associate. In 2010, she completed her first year of the NYFA acting program and was selected to be a part of the NYFA Ensemble. She has been in several Off-Broadway productions, including as Barbara in God of Grandma and Tiffany in Life is Short. Ashley graduated from Adelphi University in 2008, Cum Laude, with a Bachelor of Science Degree. She is currently working as Assistant Manager, Hospitality Desk, at Columbia University.
